MEMORANDUM FOR Russell, Butler, U.S. Army Futures Command (AFC), Austin, TX

SUBJECT: Notice of Management Directed Reassignment

1. This letter officially notifies you that I am directing your reassignment from your present position description FN549966, IT Specialist (Data Management/Internet) GS-2210-13, AFC G-3/5/7 in the Data and Platform Division, Austin, TX, to the position description FN591457, Interdisciplinary (Computer Scientist), GS-1550-13, AFC, G-3/5/7, in the Data and Platform Division, Austin, TX.
2. As part of this reassignment, your base/locality pay will remain the same.
3. This reassignment will be effective on or about 21st of May 2023.
4. Please indicate your acceptance or declination of this reassignment by completing the enclosed acceptance/declination form and provided to me within seven (7) calendar days of your receipt of this notice unless you choose to provide a reply in accordance with the procedures outlined in paragraph 7. Failure to respond within seven calendar days will be considered a declination of the offer. If you should decline, you may be separated from Federal service.
5. The Department of the Army Regulation 690-300 provides authority for the directed reassignment of an employee. This action is being taken based on the organizational needs and to fill the critical role of Plans and Program Deputy Division Chief for Army Futures Command. This position is vital to meeting the Army Futures Command mission for synchronization and modernization. This position aligns with the employee's knowledge, skills and abilities and meets the directorates need.
6. As a valued employee, our goal in implementing this reassignment is to retain your knowledge, skills and abilities which is best suited for the position to which your reassignment is being directed. I encourage you to consider this offer. Failure to accept this reassignment may cause you to be subjected to adverse action procedures.
